Dunklin County
Courthouse

Fiscal Year 1988

The Dunklin County Courthouse, located in Kennett, was completed in 1940. The Work Projects Administration provided partial funding. A unique feature of the courthouse is a map of Dunklin County in the terrazzo floor. A memorial to those killed in both World Wars, the Korean War and the Vietnam War stands outside.

The Year In Review

> That the courts of justice shall be open to every person and certain remedy afforded for every injury to person, property or character, and that right and justice shall be administered without sale, denial or delay.
> Article I, Section 14, Constitution of Missouri

The Missouri judiciary has just completed a year of progress and accomplishment, despite ever-increasing caseloads and the challenges created by legislative mandate and population growth, and despite tough fiscal constraints. Responding with innovation, determination and hard work, the Missouri courts not only provided an accessible and equitable system of justice, but, by reducing their pending caseloads and the length of time on appeal, one that fulfills the constitutional mandate to provide justice "without...delay."

> The circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction over all cases and matters, civil and criminal. Such courts may issue and determine original remedial writs and shall sit at times and places within the circuit as determined by the circuit court.
> Article V, Section 14 (a), Constitution of Missouri

The challenges to the judiciary were felt most acutely at the Circuit Court level, where Missouri's trial courts reported 864,555 cases added to the dockets in FY 1988, a 16 percent increase from five years ago. The circuit courts are also feeling the impact of child support collection methods such as wage assignments, tax intercepts, and property attachments that have been authorized by the General Assembly in recent years. The number of child support payments has increased from 495,850 in FY 1983 to 1,071,660 in FY 1988. In addition to caseload growth, the trial courts continued to experience the major impact of a general shift in population.

As noted in the FY 1987 Annual Report, Missouri has recently witnessed significant changes in population density in many regions of the state. The net migration figures provided by the University of Missouri Extension Office of Social and Economic Data Analysis indicate a significant rate of migration out of some of the smaller rural counties into the larger urban counties. For example, St. Charles County reported a net population increase of 24,800 between 1980 and 1986, while Scott, Dunklin, and Adair counties experienced a net loss of 5,000 in the same period. Concurrently, St. Louis City experienced a net loss of 37,500, indicative of the continuing migration out of the major metropolitan cities.

The impact of these population changes on the judiciary has two effects. First, it is reflected in the number of courthouses threatened with closure due to a shortage of county revenue from property and sales taxes. In July, 1988, the Attorney General issued an opinion stipulating that, while a county may not close a courthouse completely, it may reduce the number of hours each day that a courthouse remains open (506.080, RSMo 1986). This practice, if adopted by many counties, would have a very negative impact on the courts' ability to keep current with their workload. Second, population changes continue to provide a challenge for the Supreme Court as it seeks to deal with the statutory requirement that there be a resident associate circuit judge in each county.

This requirement has created a workload imbalance between those counties losing population and those gaining. This imbalance is partially reflected in the number of judicial transfers ordered by the Supreme Court. Article V, Section 6, of Missouri's Constitution, states:

> The supreme court may make temporary transfers of judicial personnel from one court or district to another as the administration of justice requires,...

Reasons for judicial transfer may include judge disqualification, illness, or heavy caseload. By rule, the Supreme Court sets out the bases for change which may be carried out by local court rule. In circuits with more than one circuit judge, local court rules usually determine the order in which judges are assigned. In circuits with only one circuit judge, the Supreme Court assigns a judge, although multi-judge circuits can and do request the Supreme Court to make the assignment. This judge may either be an associate judge from the same circuit, or an associate or circuit judge from a different circuit.

The Supreme Court ordered almost 1,200 transfers of circuit, associate and retired judges either to hear specific Circuit Court cases or to serve for periods of time wherever a circuit or associate judge was needed. The Court made 234 transfers of circuit judges, 938 transfers of associate judges and 23 transfers of retired judges. Transfers this fiscal year involved assignments to 1,270 Circuit Court cases and assignments for periods of time totaling 955 days. The number of days is equivalent to more than three judge years, most of which were served in the three metropolitan circuits.

Also, to improve disproportionate circuit-level workloads, associate circuit judges disposed 56 percent (30,856 cases) of the domestic relations cases, 27 percent (9,475 cases) of other civil matters, 6 percent (1,182 cases) of the felony cases, 88 percent (3,404 cases) of the municipal trials de novo and certifications, and 68 percent (1,964 cases) of the misdemeanors filed directly in or certified to the circuit divisions. Authority for the associate judges to handle this caseload is either by order of the Supreme Court, by assignment of the presiding judge, or by local court rule.

> The supreme court shall have exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all cases involving the validity of a treaty or statute of the United States, or of a statute or provision of the constitution of this state, the construction of the revenue laws of this state, the title to any state office and in all cases where the punishment imposed is death. The court of appeals shall have general appellate jurisdiction in all cases except those within the exclusive jurisdiction of the supreme court.

Article V, Section 3, Constitution of Missouri

The trial courts were not alone in reporting increasing caseloads. Missouri's appellate courts also experienced record increases. There were 367 appeals and writs filed with the Supreme Court in FY 1968, and 355 appeals and writs disposed. For the second year in a row, applications to transfer exceeded 700, reaching a total of 719. There were 2,827 appeals and 488 writs filed in the three districts of the Court of Appeals.

The accomplishments of the Missouri Judiciary reflect policies designed to accommodate the increased workload while maintaining an efficient and responsive judicial system. In FY 1988, the Court Administrator's Office continued implementation of the Automated Child Support Trustee System by installing the system in 51 clerks' offices. This system was developed to help clerks handle the rapidly expanding child support workload. The Court Administrator's Office also developed an Automated Traffic System and provided assistance to courts in implementing the recommended Accounting Guidelines and Review procedures developed in FY 1987. The Supreme Court announced a number of Supreme Court Rule changes. The Missouri Council of Juvenile Court Judges appointed a new legislative committee to review legislation affecting juvenile courts and to serve as a resource for legislative committees considering juvenile legislation.

These accomplishments were achieved within a judicial system that, while more than a century and a half old, has remained responsive to the changing needs of the state.

The Missouri Judicial System

> Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that the inhabitants of that portion of the Missouri Territory included within the boundaries hereinafter designated, be and they are hereby authorized to form for themselves a constitution and state government, and to assume such name as they shall deem proper; and the said state, when formed, shall be admitted into the Union upon an equal footing with the original states, in all respects whatsoever.
> Section 1, Act of Admission, Approved March 6, 1820

Missouri's first constitution, adopted in 1820 as the state prepared to enter the Union, placed the judicial power in a Supreme Court, chancery courts, and circuit and other courts which were to be established by the legislature. Although the structure of the judiciary has been altered through the years and the demands on the courts have continued to accelerate, the commitment to an impartial and effective system of justice remains.

The Supreme Court is the state's highest court, with statewide jurisdiction. The Court of Appeals, Missouri's intermediate appellate court, consists of three districts, established by statute, with general appellate jurisdiction in all cases not within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. The third tier is a Circuit Court, divided into 44 circuits, with original jurisdiction over all cases and matters, civil and criminal.

Various developments over the years have served to strengthen the judicial system. The Nonpartisan Court Plan, adopted as an amendment to the constitution in 1940, has served as a model for judicial selection plans in many other states and jurisdictions. The amendment provides for the nonpartisan appointment of Supreme Court and Court of Appeals judges, as well as Circuit Court judges in the City of St. Louis and

Jackson County. Other judicial circuits may adopt the plan if approved by a majority of the voters in the circuit. The plan has been extended by popular election in St. Louis County, Clay County and Platte County and, by charter, to Kansas City municipal court judges.

In 1979, the state judicial system was reorganized in compliance with an amendment to Article V of the constitution that had been adopted by the voters in 1976. The new judicial article reorganized all former courts of limited jurisdiction--circuit courts, probate courts, municipal courts, (except in the metropolitan circuits) and the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction--into a single trial court as part of Missouri's unified judicial system. At the same time, the state assumed responsibility for the salaries of circuit clerks (beginning July 1, 1980) and deputy and division clerks (beginning July 1, 1981). This action placed responsibility for the Circuit Court Personnel System and the concomitant budget process with the Supreme Court.

> That the right of trial by jury as heretofore enjoyed shall remain inviolate;...
> Article I, Section 22 (a), Constitution of Missouri

Juries are a crucial part of the judicial system. In Missouri there are two kinds of juries: grand and petit. Grand juries are summoned to hear evidence to determine whether or not there is cause to indict someone. Grand juries are used extensively in the metropolitan circuits, rarely in the smaller circuits. Petit jurors serve at a civil or criminal trial, and, in a formal proceeding, decide the guilt or innocence of the accused or the merit of a civil suit. Frequently, the very presence of a jury precipitates the settling of a case. When faced with the immediate reality of a trial, participants are often willing to agree on a compromise they had previously rejected. Jurors are drawn primarily from registered voter, property tax, and driver license lists. They provide a representative sampling of citizens, bound by their willingness to perform this important civic duty.

For many, serving on a jury creates a financial burden. Jurors, who are paid by the county, receive between $6.00 and $20.00 per day and seven cents per mile. Two bills passed in the recent legislative sessions would have required most employers to pay jurors while they were on duty; these bills were vetoed by the governor.

In any given year, new legislation has a major impact on the workings of the courts. In FY 1988, several bills were passed which either changed judicial procedures or increased the workload of the courts. In particular, HBs 1272, 1273, and 1274 changed many of the child custody and child support procedures; SB 522 increased the jurisdictional limit for small claims cases from $1,000 to $1,500; and HB 1660 made several changes to Chapter 517 (small civil cases). These bills will continue to have an impact on the judiciary.

Circuit courts also began implementing SB 479, passed by the legislature in FY 1988. This bill altered the procedure for a change of venue. Effective March 31, 1988, judges are permitted to select a jury from outside the county and move the jury to the trial, rather than moving the trial to the jury. In the event that a circuit judge feels it necessary to summon a jury from a different, non-adjoining circuit, he may request the Supreme Court to name a county from which jurors may be selected.

Legislation passed in recent years to allow courts to develop local sentencing alternatives has also been implemented. Courts in three counties--Jackson, Cole, and Cape Girardeau--began a program of house arrest, sometimes known as "electronic shackling," for those persons who are willing to participate in a program that keeps them partially confined to their home, and also reduces the strain on local jail facilities.

Financial Information

The Missouri judiciary, one of the three branches of state government, ranks below six executive branch agencies in terms of funds budgeted and FTE allocated.

For FY 1988 the state expended over $3.5 billion from General Revenue for the operation of Missouri government. Of that amount, approximately $66.6 million, 1.8 percent of the total state budget, was disbursed to the judiciary. Approximately $61.1 million, 92 percent of judicial expenditures, was for personnel costs with the remainder allocated for operating expenses and equipment. Local governments bear almost all of the expense and equipment costs for the circuit courts. A total of $13.7 million was collected by the judiciary and submitted to the Missouri Department of Revenue from filing, transcription and court reporter fees, Crime Victims' Compensation Act judgments, county officers' compensation fund, prosecuting attorneys' training fund collections, and other monies.

Through efforts of the clerks, the amount of federal reimbursement due General Revenue for work performed on child support in FY 1988 was $1,769,900. This is about $789,900 (81 percent) more than in FY 1987.

Crime Victims' Compensation judgments were entered against more than 52,300 defendants sentenced to prison, receiving a suspended imposition of sentence, sentenced to pay a fine, or placed under the supervision of the State Board of Probation and Parole or a county probation officer. Disbursements to the Crime Victims' Compensation Fund totaled $1,684,283, an increase of $172,288 (11 percent) compared to the previous fiscal year.

The Supreme Court

Structure and Jurisdiction

The responsibility of the Supreme Court is to hear appeals from the lower courts and provide administrative and policy leadership for the state judicial system.

Prior to 1972, the Supreme Court had jurisdiction in all criminal felony appeals. That jurisdiction changed in 1972, and most felony appeals now go to the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court, prior to 1972, also had jurisdiction over numerous appeals in civil cases which now go to the Court of Appeals. At present, the Supreme Court's jurisdiction over these cases is largely in the nature of certiorari, in which the Court decides which cases it will accept for further review, and a large portion of the Supreme Court workload comes in the form of applications for transfer from the Court of Appeals. Many convicted defendants file applications for transfer because failure to file such an application would be a failure to exhaust state remedies. Without such application, a defendant may be precluded from proceeding in federal court.

Each decision on an application to transfer requires a review process that involves many hours of research and discussion before a decision is made to accept or reject the application.

The Court also has "original jurisdiction" over cases involving issues that are brought directly to the Supreme Court. These include writs of prohibition, mandamus, and habeas corpus.

In addition to its decision-making powers, the Court promulgates rules of practice and procedure for all Missouri courts, prescribes the form and content of instructions to the jury, licenses all lawyers practicing in Missouri, and disciplines lawyers for violations of the code of ethics.

Workload

Note: Due to changes in the way the data is categorized, few comparions can be made with previous years.

A total of 1,722 matters were filed this year with the state's highest court; 1,678 matters, 97 percent of the total number filed, were disposed. Included in the totals are appeals, writs, transfers, matters involving the Bar and Judiciary, motions and miscellaneous proceedings.

One hundred fifty-eight cases were submitted for oral argument including 40 appeals, 14 writs, 91 transfers and 13 matters involving the Bar and Judiciary.

The Court disposed 133 matters by opinion; the number is comprised of 42 appeals, 10 writs, 74 transfers and 7 matters involving the Bar and Judiciary.

Appeals

Sixty-three direct appeals were filed in the Supreme Court in FY 1988. These are matters over which the Court has exclusive appellate jurisdiction.

Thirteen were cases where a death sentence was imposed and 32 were appeals of state revenue laws. The 18 remaining cases involved other matters within the constitutional jurisdiction of the Court, principally cases involving the constitutional validity of statues.

Of the 60 appeal cases disposed, 42 were disposed by opinion. The 18 remaining cases were disposed in a summary manner.

Writs

A total of 220 petitions for writs were filed. This includes 62 petitions for habeas corpus, 77 petitions for prohibition, 76 petitions for mandamus and 5 other types of petitions or motions for extraordinary remedies.

The Court ruled on 215 petitions for writs; it finally disposed 220 such matters, the same number as were filed. Of the total petitions for writs disposed, 194 were denied, 10 were disposed by opinion, 3 were disposed by order and 13 received a summary disposition before submission of the case.

Transfers

A total of 778 transfers were filed. This number is comprised of 742 applications for transfer and recommendations filed with the Court. An additional 26 cases were transferred by order of the Court of Appeals. Ten cases were transferred from the Court of Appeals upon certification by a Court of Appeals judge that the opinion rendered was contrary to a previous decision of the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals.

Of the 722 applications and recommendations that the Court initially considered, 659 were denied and 63 were accepted for further review.

The Supreme Court finally disposed of 782 transfer cases, a slightly higher number than were filed. In addition to the 659 matters denied, it disposed of 74 transfer cases by opinion, 31 by order and 18 by a summary disposition prior to submission.

Proceedings Involving the Bar and Judiciary

There were 58 proceedings involving the Bar and Judiciary, including 53 attorney disciplinary matters and motions for license surrender or reinstatement to the Bar. There were two proceedings for the retirement, removal or discipline of judges and three appeals from decisions of The Board of Law Examiners.

The Court disposed 62 of these proceedings with seven actions disposed by opinion and six disposed by order.

Motions and Miscellaneous Matters

Almost 600 motions were filed, comprised of 66 rehearing motions, 6 motions for the recall of mandates, 74 motions to stay execution and 445 miscellaneous motions. The Supreme Court disposed 544 motions, 92 percent of the number filed; 253 were overruled and 291 were sustained.

Twelve miscellaneous matters were filed; ten were disposed.

Administrative Activities

> The chief justice of the supreme court shall be the chief administrative officer of the judicial system and, subject to the supervisory authority of the supreme court, shall supervise the administration of the courts of this state.
> Article V, Section 8, Constitution of Missouri

The responsibility of the Chief Justice is shared with the other Supreme Court judges and administered in three specific ways: through the establishment of various judicial committees, through the promulgation of court rules, and through direction to the State Courts Administrator and the Clerk of the Court. Through these activities, the Court deals with the changes necessary to keep the Missouri judiciary contemporary.

The committees and commissions of the judiciary play a vital role in the effective operation of Missouri's courts. The Judicial Education Committee sponsors sessions that provide continuing education. Courses this year covered such varied topics as criminal and civil law, juvenile and probate updates, a legislative and supreme court rules update, guilty pleas, sentencing, probation and revocation, and Supreme Court Rules 24 and 29. Two colleges were presented, with 149 judges attending in August and 103 in November. The committee also began work on the development and publication of civil and criminal bench books.

The Judicial Education Committee Subcommittee on Training and Certification of Municipal Judges reviews, recommends and administers the certification course for nonlawyer municipal judges and develops and recommends continuing education programs. Missouri law requires that each municipal judge who is not licensed to practice law shall satisfactorily complete, within six months of his selection, the course of instruction for municipal judges prescribed by the Supreme Court. Two certification courses were held in FY 1988, with eleven persons attending; eleven nonlawyer municipal judges were certified. One hundred fifteen municipal judges attended continuing education programs; the sessions included such topics as courtroom security/ bailiffs, judicial liability, DWI, case-law update, legislative update, bond forfeitures, and trial de novo.

The Municipal Judges Deskbook Committee continued to draft and revise new chapters for the Municipal Deskbook.

The Presiding Judges' Executive Committee sponsored two meetings for presiding judges that focused on Chapter 517, time standards for case processing, procedures for forwarding money due the public defender, a legislative update, stress management, electronic shackling, and a report by the Department of Mental Health on "The Missouri Community/Hospital Incentive Plan."

The Committee on Jury Instructions-Criminal published a series of jury instructions regarding burglary and stealing, robbery and armed criminal action, assault, rape, and murder.

The Committee on Jury Instructions-Civil revised and added to the instructions regarding: uninsured motor vehicles; affirmative defenses as they relate to libel and slander; and instructions relating to negligence, strict liability, comparative fault, and apportionment of fault.

The State Judicial Records Committee gave approval, for distribution to the courts, of the model pegboard system; approved the reformatted Administrative Rule 4; and approved new forms for probate reporting, Abuse and Lose, Child Protection Orders Act, small claims, and interrogatories.

The Judicial Conference, meeting in September, passed several resolutions in support of specific legislative initiatives and adopted a resolution to support a plan allowing voluntary retirement by judges at age 60 and changes to survivor's benefits.

The Judicial Finance Commission continued to exercise its mandate to provide a forum for the resolution of budget disputes between counties and their respective circuit courts. During FY 1988, the Judicial Finance Commission received twelve budget dispute petitions, provided assistance to four counties which were experiencing some difficulties but did not file petitions, and responded to questions from several other counties.

The Circuit Court Budget Committee oversees the Circuit Court Personnel System for 1,547 positions (1435.2875 FTE) and allocates state Circuit Court budget appropriations. In FY 1988, the Committee: provided general maintenance to Administrative Rule 7; reviewed and decided on 307 personnel matters; authorized and monitored the review and classification audit of 688 classified Circuit Court positions; reviewed and rendered decisions on 71 Circuit Court budget requests for additional staffing for the FY 1989 budget; and reviewed employee dismissal and grievance actions on appeals from circuit courts.

In addition to the Court's committees, associations of judges and clerks worked to improve the quality and efficiency of Missouri's courts. The agenda for the Missouri Municipal and Associate Judges Association's meeting included topics on the annual survey of the law, placing a defendant on probation and revocation, an update on audits, Abuse and Lose, the duty of the court to appoint counsel, mentally incompetent defendants, the use of credit cards in paying fines, and the formalities of the opening of court. The annual meeting of the Association of Probate and Associate Circuit Judges, held in April, included programs on refusal of letters, affidavit to establish title, involuntary commitments, Administrative Rule 4, bond forfeitures, Abuse and Lose, courtroom security, adult and child abuse, child support issues, and ethics. The Circuit Clerks and Recorders Association annual meeting, held in September, included a legislative report, presentations on child support topics, child protection and "people relations."

As chief administrative officer of the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice's responsibilities have evolved to encompass a multitude of duties. The Chief Justice serves as general liaison to the legislature, executive branch, and Missouri Bar, and is the contact person for those citizens and organizations seeking information or a speaker. He chairs the Judicial Conference and is a member of that organization's executive committee. He also serves as Missouri's representative at the Conference of Chief Justices and is on the Appellate Judicial Commission.

The executive duties of the Chief Justice include responding to administrative questions that arise within the Supreme Court as well as other state courts, attending to personnel matters, internal budget considerations and the Court's physical plant. He is responsible, along with other members of the Court, for final approval of the budget for the judiciary. The Chief Justice is selected by the court en banc and, traditionally, serves for a term of two years.

Chief Justice William H. Billings completed the first half of his two-year term on June 30, 1988. Chief Justice Billings has served on the Supreme Court since 1982.

The Court of Appeals

Structure and Jurisdiction

Missouri's appellate structure of one court divided into three districts was established in 1970 by constitutional amendment. Each district of the Court of Appeals may sit in divisions determined by the judges of that district; each division is composed of at least three judges. The orders, judgments, and decrees of a majority of the judges of any division have the force and effect of those of the full court. The Court of Appeals may issue original remedial writs and has general appellate jurisdiction in all cases not within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

Appellate judges are nominated by the nonpartisan Appellate Judicial Commission and appointed by the governor. If approved by the voters at the first general election after their first 12 months in office, they serve 12-year terms. The judges in each district elect a chief judge to serve for a term fixed by the district.

Workload

More than 3,300 appeals and writs were filed, an 8 percent increase over last year's filings and the largest number of appeals and writs filed to date. In addition, approximately 10,600 motions were filed, exceeding previous years' records and contributing greatly to the workload of the Court. The Court disposed 3,145 appeals and writs, with most appeals disposed by opinion. It also ruled on more than 98 percent of the motions filed.

Appeals

The number of appeals filed was 2,827. This was the highest ever, surpassing the number filed in FY 1987 by 231 cases (9 percent). While there was a slight decrease in the number of criminal appeals filed, the number of civil appeals filed grew by 266 cases (14 percent) and topped the 2,000 mark for the first time.

The Court disposed 1,982 civil appeals and 692 criminal appeals for a total of 2,674.

Approximately 70 percent of the criminal appeals and 54 percent of the civil appeals were disposed by opinion. The 1,076 civil cases disposed by opinion is comparable to last year's record number and is the second largest number of civil appeals disposed by opinion to date.

Opinions were handed down an average of 51 days after the appeal was submitted. The average for criminal appeals was 48 days and for civil appeals was 53 days. Each is a significantly shorter time frame than the respective averages of 53 days and 73 days reported three years ago.

Court of Appeals judges handed down 1,855 opinions, almost 300 more than the number of appeals disposed by opinion.

Despite the large increase in appeals filed, a disposition to filing ratio of 0.95 was achieved. For criminal appeals, the number of dispositions equaled the number filed, resulting in a disposition to filing ratio of 1.00.

There were 2,326 appeals pending at the end of the fiscal year, an increase of 153 cases since the year began. The Court was waiting for the filing of a transcript or brief in more than 1,600 of these pending cases. In approximately 200 additional appeals, an opinion had been handed down; however, the case was still counted in the pending status because the mandate had not been sent.

Writs

Four hundred eighty-eight (488) writs were filed, an increase of about 30 writs over the previous fiscal year. Included in the total are 83 writs of habeas corpus, 260 writs of prohibition, 144 writs of mandamus and one other type of writ. The Court disposed 471 writs; 42 writs were pending at year's end.

Motions

A record 10,589 motions were filed, an increase of 557 over last year. Fifty-four percent of the motions were for extensions of time. Despite the large increase, the Court ruled on 10,402 motions, more than 98 percent of the number filed.

Workload Management

The Court employs several procedures developed to expedite the hearing process for its large number of cases. These include the use of settlement conferences wherein the parties in all civil cases are required to attend a pre-submission conference conducted by a judge of the court.

The Court frequently conducts these pre-submission conferences and hears cases in locations other than where the court routinely sits:

> In September 1985, the Western District, located in Kansas City, began to hear arguments in Jefferson City on appeals originating in mid-Missouri counties.
> The Eastern District Court sits in Cape Girardeau and Hannibal to hear appeals from those areas, in addition to its regularly scheduled sessions in St. Louis.
> Because the Southern District seat is divided by statute into two areas, sessions are held in both Springfield and Poplar Bluff.

In addition, the Court of Appeals has improved its ability to handle its ever-increasing workload by using the services of senior and special judges as assigned by the Supreme Court.

In all districts, various methods are employed to monitor case flow and identify problems in the appellate judicial process.

Three new judges were appointed to the Court of Appeals. Stanley A. Grimm was appointed to the Eastern District bench to replace Robert Snyder, who retired on July 25, 1987; Gary A. Fenner was appointed to the Western District bench to replace J. P. Pritchard, who retired; and Ann K. Covington became the first woman appointed to the appellate bench when she was appointed to the Western District Court of Appeals to replace David J. Dixon, who died on July 21, 1987.

The Circuit Court

Structure and Jurisdiction

The Circuit Court, which is composed of 44 judicial circuits, is the court with original jurisdiction in all civil and criminal cases. The Circuit Court is organized into divisions: circuit, associate, juvenile, municipal, and probate. Each division hears and decides different classes of cases within its jurisdiction.

In general, the circuit divisions handle felony cases after the preliminary hearing, civil cases where the amount of money involved exceeds $15,000, and domestic relations cases. The circuit divisions also handle certain misdemeanor cases, cases involving unusual procedures (such as a writ of prohibition, a writ of mandamus, quo warranto, or habeas corpus), and cases that are certified or come to the circuit division on a request for a trial de novo.

The associate divisions hear misdemeanor or infraction cases, and felony preliminaries. Associate circuit judges may also hear municipal ordinance violations in municipalities that have fewer than 400,000 people and have no municipal judge; civil matters under $15,000; and matters filed in small claims courts as prescribed in Chapter 482 of Missouri's revised statutes.

Small claims cases are civil cases in which the amount of claim does not exceed $1,500. In small claims matters, parties are not required to have an attorney and formal rules of evidence and procedure do not apply. No jury trial is permitted.

By agreement of the parties, by assignment of the presiding judge or by local court rule, an associate circuit judge may hear any case pending in the Circuit Court. Article V, Section 6 of the Missouri Constitution allows associate circuit judges to hear any case or class of cases upon assignment by the Supreme Court.

The juvenile divisions of the Circuit Court serve persons under 17 years of age. If the juvenile court acquired jurisdiction over a child before he or she reached the age of 17, the court may retain jurisdiction until the child reaches the age of 21. The court does not retain jurisdiction if a child is prosecuted for any violation of state law or a municipal ordinance which he committed after he reached 17 years of age.

A child may come within the jurisdiction of the court for several reasons, including neglect and abuse, status offenses such as repeated truancy and incorrigibility, and acts committed by a child which would constitute a crime if committed by an adult. The court also hears adoption and termination of parental rights cases. State or municipal traffic ordinance violations which do not constitute a felony are not within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.

Municipal courts handle municipal traffic and other ordinance violations. Municipalities having a population of fewer than 400,000 people may elect to have their ordinance violations heard and determined by associate circuit judges. Municipalities with populations of 400,000 or more must provide for a legally trained municipal judge.

The probate divisions of the Circuit Court administer deceased persons' estates, the estates of those who are incapacitated or disabled, and the estates of minors. The probate divisions also handle certain mental health proceedings.

Circuit and associate circuit judges are either elected by voters in the circuit in which they are to serve or, in St. Louis City and County and Jackson, Clay and Platte counties, they are selected through Missouri's nonpartisan selection plan. At present, there are 133 circuit judgeships and 170 associate circuit judgeships.

The Missouri Constitution mandates that each county have at least one resident associate circuit judge. Additional judges may be authorized by statute. At present there are 170 associate circuit judges who have either been elected by the voters in the county in which they serve, or appointed through the nonpartisan selection plan.

To fill vacancies caused by death, retirement, or resignations, 15 new judges were appointed in FY 1988 to the circuit courts. Included are Keith Marquart, Circuit Judge, 5th Circuit; Steven Stevenson, Associate Judge, 5th Circuit; David W. Shinn, Thomas C. Clark, John I. Moran and John A. Borron, Jr., Circuit Judges, 16th Circuit; Robert L. Trout, Associate Judge, 16th Circuit; Martin Schiff, Jr., Emmett M. O'Brien and Steven H. Goldman, Circuit Judges, 21st Circuit; John D. Chancellor, Circuit Judge, 22nd Circuit; James A. Franklin, Jr., Circuit Judge, 26th Circuit; Gary Ratzlaff, Associate Judge, 28th Circuit; Winston Davis, Associate Judge, 31st Circuit; and Stephen N. Limbaugh, Jr., Circuit Judge, 32nd Circuit. Two associate judges, Randall Jackson and Thomas K. McGuire, Jr., were appointed to circuit judgeships in the 5th and 31st Circuits, respectively.

CIRCUIT DIVISIONS

The number of cases filed totaled 124,735. This is a 3 percent increase over the previous year's record and an increase of 14 percent (about 15,700 cases) over the number filed five years ago.

A total of 116,153 cases were disposed, more than in any previous year and an increase of approximately 1,200 cases compared to FY 1987.

Just under 120,000 cases were pending at year's end, an increase of 8 percent for the year. Despite the overall increase in pending cases, 10 circuits reduced their pending civil caseloads and 14 circuits reduced their pending criminal caseloads.

The courts handled $124.4 million in child support payments, an increase of almost $18 million over the previous year's total. In the past five years the number of child support payments processed annually has increased 116 percent, growing from just under a half million payments in FY 1983 to 1.1 million payments this year.

Civil and Domestic Relations

The number of civil and domestic relations cases filed continued to rise; close to 98,000 cases were initiated in FY 1988. Included in the total are 35,180 civil cases and 62,679 domestic relations cases. While it appears that the civil caseload decreased compared to last year, much of the change is explained by the increased jurisdiction of associate circuit judges. The number of domestic relations cases increased dramatically, surpassing the record filings of a year ago by more than 4,100 cases.

The courts disposed 90,739 civil and domestic relations cases, comparable to the all-time high established in FY 1987.

The number of civil cases disposed was 35,364. The pending caseload was reduced by about 200, with the courts achieving a disposition to filing ratio of 1.01. A total of 55,375 domestic relations cases were disposed, the most in the last six years and 688 more than in FY 1987.

A total of 54,550 civil and domestic relations cases were disposed by trial, an increase of nearly 800 cases over the number disposed by trial last year.

As of June 30, 1988, there were 103,366 civil and domestic relations cases pending. The number pending is 7,120 higher than when the fiscal year began and primarily reflects the large increase in domestic relations cases filed.

Criminal

A total of 22,573 criminal cases were filed, the highest number ever. This total includes 19,629 felonies and 2,944 misdemeanors. The number of felonies increased by more than 1,400 cases (8 percent) compared to FY 1987; in the past three years the number of felony filings has risen 23 percent.

A record 21,541 criminal cases were disposed; the total is comprised of 18,667 felonies and 2,874 misdemeanors. The number of felony dispositions was up by 1,176 cases (7 percent) over last year. Based on information from 111 counties, more than 80 percent of the felony cases disposed this year were disposed within six months of being filed in the circuit division.

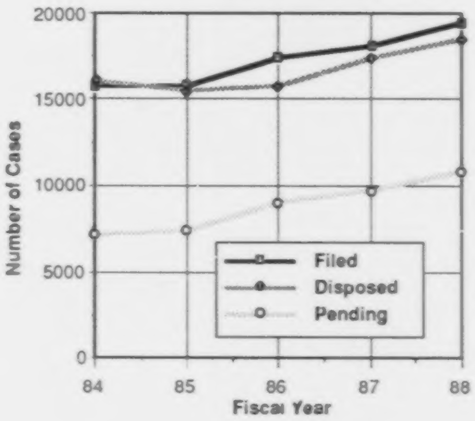
Circuit Divisions
Felony Caseloads
FY 1984 through FY 1988



The number of criminal cases pending at year's end was 14,527, an increase of 8 percent over the number pending when the year began.

Municipal Certifications/Trials De Novo

Just over 4,300 cases were filed. This is an increase of 27 percent over last year, and the greatest number filed to date.

There were 3,873 municipal cases disposed, up 18 percent over FY 1987, and the largest number disposed in the past three years.

Figure 10

As of June 30, 1988, 2,106 municipal certifications and trials de novo were pending. This is an increase of 430 cases over the number pending at the beginning of the year.

ASSOCIATE DIVISIONS

The 704,415 cases filed surpassed the record number filed last year by more than 7,100 cases.

The courts disposed 660,732 cases, down slightly (less than 1 percent) from FY 1987. The decrease is due primarily to a drop in the number of traffic cases disposed.

There were 375,415 cases pending at the end of the year, up 13 percent from when the year began. Despite the overall increase in the number of pending cases, several counties reduced their pending caseloads during the year. Reductions in pending caseloads were reported for civil cases by 37 counties, for small claims cases by 42 counties, for felony preliminaries by 33 counties, for misdemeanor cases by 23 counties, for traffic cases by 32 counties, and for ordinance cases by 17 counties.

Civil and Small Claims

A record 121,763 associate civil cases were filed. The number exceeds last year's filing by more than 7,500 cases (7 percent). The total is comprised of 117,525 cases involving amounts up to $5,000 and 4,238 cases involving amounts in the $5,001 to $15,000 range. FY 1988 was the first full fiscal year in which the increased jurisdiction for associate circuit judges was in effect.

Persons seeking remedy through the small claims court initiated 20,702 suits, which is comparable to the number filed last year.

Approximately 108,400 civil cases were disposed. While the total is down 3 percent from last year, the number of cases over $5,000 disposed increased from 787 to 3,727. There was also a 15% increase in the number of cases disposed by trial, for a total of 12,120.

The 19,600 small claims cases disposed is the second highest number of small claims cases disposed to date. This year's disposition to filing ratio of 0.95 is among the highest achieved.

The year ended with 85,715 civil and 10,952 small claims cases pending.

Criminal

Criminal filings were at record levels, continuing the trend in increased criminal caseloads begun several years ago. Felony preliminaries numbered 32,248, a 5 percent increase over last year and a 24 percent increase over the number filed five years ago. There were 84,139 misdemeanor cases filed, up 9,423 cases (13 percent) over last year and 27,932 cases (50 percent) over the number filed in FY 1983. In actual numbers, the misdemeanor case type contributed more to this year's overall growth in associate division case filings than did any other type of case.

Case dispositions also broke previously established records. The 29,064 felony preliminary cases disposed exceeded last year's number by nearly 1,200 cases. Over half of these cases were bound over to the circuit division for final disposition and another 15 percent were disposed by a guilty plea to a reduced charge. There were 74,911 misdemeanor cases disposed, up more than 5,900 cases (9 percent) over last year.

Figure 14
Associate Circuit Divisions
Misdemeanor Caseloads

Approximately 100,000 cases were pending at year's end. The number includes 25,515 felony preliminaries and 74,566 misdemeanors.

Traffic

The number of traffic cases filed was 391,845, down 4 percent from FY 1987. Over the past several years greater variation has been seen in this case type than in any other. It is not uncommon for years in which filings are up to be followed by years in which decreases are experienced.

There were 379,815 cases disposed, 2 percent fewer than in FY 1987. Because the decrease in filings exceeded that for dispositions, the courts achieved a disposition to filing ratio of 0.97 for traffic cases, the highest ratio in three years.

As of June 30, 1988, 153,424 traffic cases remained pending.

Ordinance

This year's total of 53,718 cases filed was, by far, the most ever recorded. Filings were up 15 percent (almost 6,900 cases) compared to last year. The percentage increase was the largest for any associate division case type.

A record 48,959 cases were disposed, an increase of 3,629 cases compared to the previous fiscal year.

There were 25,243 ordinance cases pending at the end of the year.

Figure 15

JUVENILE DIVISIONS

An all-time high of 21,120 cases were filed, up 6 percent over last year.

The courts disposed 20,710 cases, also a record, and achieved a disposition to filing ratio of 0.98. This year's dispositions are up 9 percent (close to 1,700 cases) compared to FY 1987, the largest increase in three years.

More cases were disposed by hearing than ever before. This year's total of 16,654 dispositions by hearing surpasses last year's number by more than 1,200 cases.

One hundred forty-one (141) juveniles were certified to adult court, the highest number in at least six years. A total of 116 juveniles were certified to adult court in FY 1987.

Just over 10,300 cases were pending at year's end. This number reflects only those cases awaiting a determination of facts in the petition and entry of an order. It does not reflect those cases in which the case file remains open while the child is under the jurisdiction of the court.

PROBATE DIVISIONS

Case filings in the probate divisions totaled 14,285. This is the highest number to date. Case dispositions numbered 12,734, down 5 percent from the previous fiscal year.

Decedents' Estates

A record 8,554 decedents' estates opened, with 34 percent to be independently administered. This percentage has increased consistently over the past several years. Five years ago only 15 percent of the estates were reported opened under independent administration.

A total of 8,334 decedents' estates were closed leaving 16,604 estates pending at year's end.

Refusals of Letters/ Small Estate Affidavits

In the year ending June 30, 1988, 5,446 applications for refusals of letters were filed. Over the past several years a gradual decrease in the proportion of spouse/minor refusals and a gradual increase in the proportion of creditor refusals have been seen. Sixty percent of the refusals filed this year were spouse/minor refusals. Five years ago this component made up 66 percent of the total.

The number of small estate affidavits filed totaled 2,628, a number comparable to last year.

Guardianships and Conservatorships

Almost 4,100 guardianships and conservatorships were opened, a number which has been fairly consistent over the past three years. The FY 1988 total is comprised of 2,768 incapacitated/disabled and 1,325 minors cases.

Both a guardian and a conservator were appointed in over half the cases. A "guardian only" was appointed in 30 percent of the cases. At the time of opening, the remaining 17 percent of the cases required a "conservator only."

Just under 3,100 guardianships and conservatorships were closed; 23,232 cases were pending at the end of the year.

Mental Health Proceedings

A total of 5,616 initial applications for 96-hour involuntary detention and evaluation under Chapter 632, RSMo (1986), were filed. In the last six years the number of initial applications filed has increased an average of 285 applications annually. This year's increase is 482 above the number filed in FY 1987.

The courts reported 1,638 petitions for 21-day, 90-day, and one year commitment filed under Chapter 632. This is the highest number filed to date.

Workload Management

When the state assumed responsibility for the salaries of judicial personnel in 1982, there were 302 trial judges and 1,250 circuit clerks and support personnel to handle the 737,313 cases filed in the circuit courts in FY 1982. Since that time, the number of cases filed has increased 17 percent, to 864,555 in FY 1988, but only one additional judge has been appropriated. Support personnel to handle the increased caseload have only been increased by about 15 FTE, although there have been additional allocations of FTE for the child support workload. Increased use of computer systems and the adoption of recommended accounting and caseload management systems have alleviated some of the workload burden in recent years, but by no means all. It is a tribute to the hard working judges and court support staff that they have been able to maintain an efficient judicial system with a minimum of resources.

Office of State Courts Administrator

As the administrative staff of the Supreme Court, the Office of State Courts Administrator fulfills the administrative obligations of the Supreme Court which are mandated under the judicial article and the statutes. Established in 1970 by constitutional amendment, the office provides a wide range of administrative and technical services to Missouri's judges and to clerks and other nonjudicial personnel. By delegation from the Supreme Court through Rule 82.03 and a series of administrative rules or directly by statute, the staff is now required to perform numerous duties including:

> Assisting clerks in maintaining a uniform court record-keeping system (Section 483.082 RSMo and Administrative Rule 4).
> Setting standards for electronic sound recorders used by courts to make the verbatim record and preparing all transcripts for sound recordings (Section 478.072 RSMo and Administrative Rule 5).
> Conducting municipal judge certification examinations (Section 479.020 RSMo).
> Preparing the annual budget for the judicial branch (Section 476.265 RSMo).
> Maintaining a system of salary ranges and classifications for 1,450 deputy and division clerks in the circuit courts (Section 483.245 RSMo and Administrative Rule 7).
> Assisting the courts in preparing records retention schedules and microfilming court records (Section 109.140 RSMo and Administrative Rule 8).

The office assists the court in its constitutional function of transferring judges from one circuit or district to another (Article V, Section 6). In FY 1988, the staff coordinated 1,247 judicial transfers. As a result of this process, out-state judges provided 534 additional judge days in metropolitan areas and disposed 1,270 Circuit Court cases.

Staff perform technical assistance, statistical analysis, financial system analysis, and continuing education functions. Staff members travel to courts on request from judges and clerks concerning case processing, financial record-keeping, records retention and destruction, statistical reporting, special projects, sound recording, and development of model systems. In FY 1988, on-site visits were made to over 70 court offices to provide assistance. Staff also assist circuit, associate circuit and probate divisions in maintaining uniform record-keeping systems adopted under Administrative Rule 4 of the Supreme Court, develop forms for use in trial courts, and coordinate the loan of 14 microfilm cameras to film court records. Staff support is provided to several committees appointed by the Supreme Court.

Recommended Accounting Guidelines and Review Procedures for use in circuit and associate circuit courts have been developed and incorporated into Administrative Rule 4. Assistance is being provided to local courts in implementing these guidelines and procedures. A model manual "one-write" accounting system was developed and, after testing in two pilot courts and approval by the State Judicial Records Committee, the systems were distributed to all non-automated courts. Assistance was provided to those court offices that chose to adopt the model system.

In FY 1988, 1,545 judges and clerks attended training sessions coordinated by the office. The annual Missouri Judicial College, which provides instruction in such areas as civil and juvenile law, civil and criminal rules of procedure, sentencing, and evidence was attended by 247 judges. Regional seminars for circuit, associate circuit, and probate clerks drew 987 court staff, and addressed requirements provided by new legislation including the Abuse and Lose law, child support collection, changes in the Crime Victims'

Compensation Fund collections and juror selection, and mental health and conservatorship legislation. The seminars also covered records management and accounting procedures. Regional training programs for the municipal divisions were attended by 311 judges and clerks. Staff also assisted with training in programs offered by four statewide association meetings.

Staff prepares updates for the two-volume Court Clerk Handbook and, with the assistance of probate clerks, prepares and distributes revisions to the Probate Clerk Handbook.

Assistance is also provided to the Presiding Judges' Executive Committee in projects related to circuit court administration. A quarterly presiding judges' newsletter is published to keep presiding judges abreast of administrative information and a quarterly newsletter for Circuit Court personnel provides information of interest to clerks.

The Courts Administrator's Office assists in policy direction for the Statewide Judicial Information System (SWJIS), collects and analyzes caseload data from the courts, develops and operates appellate and circuit record-keeping systems, and develops and operates administrative systems for the court.

Upon request by individual courts, staff members provide technical assistance in court computerization. A child support trustee system for implementation in circuit clerks' offices has been developed and was installed in 51 counties during FY 1988. The system is being enhanced to allow networks of microcomputers to access the system. Eighteen courts are using the system for traffic case management that was developed by the office to replace manual records maintained by the courts. As additional courts obtain microcomputers, the system will be installed and personnel trained to operate the system in those courts.

Staff and the Boone County Circuit Court are collaborating on a project for the development of an Automated Criminal Case Management System. Both the Office of State Courts Administrator and the Boone County Circuit Court received federal grants for the development of the system.

As required by Section 476.265 RSMo, staff prepares the annual budget for all levels of the judiciary; staff also provides assistance to local courts in budget matters. The preparation of fiscal notes for the legislature is a responsibility that has escalated in recent years. In FY 1988, budget staff at the Office of State Courts Administrator prepared more than 670 memos analyzing the potential cost to the state of proposed legislation.

A central transcribing service prepares typed transcripts from sound recordings when needed for appeals or other purposes as required by statute. During FY 1988, 51,973 pages of original transcript were produced.

A legislative summary was distributed in FY 1988. It described changes in associate circuit court jurisdiction, handling of child support, Crime Victims' Compensation Fund judgments, jury provisions, and other statutory provisions affecting the courts and court clerk responsibilities.

By agreement with the Office of Administration and the General Assembly, the Office of State Courts Administrator is responsible for processing and accounting for all funds appropriated to the Supreme Court for judges and clerks' offices and the circuit courts, in addition to handling the office's own appropriations. The fiscal processing workload of the office has increased from less than $1 million in general revenue for FY 1974, to more than $57 million in FY 1988.

Clerk of the Supreme Court

The Clerk of the Supreme Court is responsible for a wide range of duties including the supervision of the internal administrative function of the court and the planning and administrative function of the Missouri Judicial Conference, the organization comprising all of the judges in the state.

The administrative duties include handling all inquiries and procedural requests from attorneys throughout the state, arranging the docketing of cases, maintaining files in each case before the court, receipting and dispersing fees related to those cases, and printing and distributing opinions of the court. Additionally, the Supreme Court's security administrator is under the clerk's supervision.

As the provider of administrative and staff assistance to the Missouri Judicial Conference, the clerk appears before legislative committees to present the views of the conference on legislation affecting the judiciary, and to provide data and information on judicial operations as requested.

The clerk of the Supreme Court also has responsibilities relating to the Missouri Bar and the supervision of new attorneys. He maintains the official Roll of Attorneys for the State of Missouri, prepares certificates evidencing admission to the Bar, supervises the semiannual enrollment ceremonies and prepares all attorneys' licenses.

11TH CIRCUIT

PRESIDING JUDGE: Honorable Fred Rush

Lincoln, Pike, and St. Charles Counties comprise the Eleventh Judicial Circuit. St. Charles County is within the metropolitan St. Louis area; Lincoln County borders the metro area; and Pike County is primarily rural. Fred Rush, Lester W. Duggan, Jr., Donald E. Dalton, and David A. Dalton serve as circuit judges; Kathie B. Dudley, Paul E. Williams, William T. Lohmar, and Lucy D. Rauch serve as associate circuit judges. The circuit clerks are Melba Houston (Lincoln County), Sherry R. McCarty (Pike County), and Susan E. Brown (St. Charles County).

The circuit, which experienced a 43.7 percent population increase between 1970 and 1980, was estimated to have experienced a 28.8 percent increase between 1980 and 1987 from 183,868 to 236,839. The increase is due to the circuit's proximity to the St. Louis area, to the location of major industry in St. Charles County, and to the proximity of Interstate 70.

FY 1988 STATISTICAL SUMMARY
26TH CIRCUIT

PRESIDING JUDGE: Honorable John E. Parrish

The Twenty-Sixth Judicial Circuit is one of six circuits which include five counties. The counties comprising the twenty-sixth circuit are Camden, Laclede, Miller, Moniteau, and Morgan. Most of the area of the Lake of the Ozarks is within the twenty-sixth circuit. The tourist activity within this area often swells the number of people to several times the census numbers. A corresponding increase in commercial growth has been observed. The circuit is served by Circuit Judges John E. Parrish and James Franklin, and by Associate Circuit Judges Mary Dickerson, James R. Moore, Norman J. Williams, Gary Schmidt, and Patricia Scott. James Franklin replaced Dean Whipple, who resigned in December, 1987, to take a position as a federal judge. The circuit clerks are Don Williams (Camden County), Lynn Stowe (Laclede County), Linda Duncan (Miller County), Donald W. Heinen (Moniteau County), and Barbara Barnard (Morgan County).

The population estimate for 1987 was 102,895, an increase of 16 percent compared to the 1980 census.

DATA SOURCES AND NOTES

Caseload figures contained in the following tables are based on information provided to the office of State Courts Administrator by the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and Circuit Court.

Population data was supplied by the Bureau of the Census and the Missouri Office of Administration, Division of Budget and Planning.

The disposition to filing ratio included in many of the tables compares the number of cases disposed with the number of cases filed during the year to give an indication of how well the court is keeping pace with its workload.

Ratios of 1.00 or greater indicate that the court disposed at least as many cases as were filed. Ratios greater than 1.00 mean the court disposed more cases than were filed during the year, thus achieving a reduction in its pending caseload. Ratios which are less than 1.00 indicate that the court disposed fewer cases than were filed and experienced an increase in its pending caseload.

This ratio is calculated by dividing the number of cases disposed by the number of cases filed.

The pending to disposition ratio compares the number of cases pending at the end of the year with the number of cases disposed during the year to give an indication of the size of the pending caseload relative to the court's rate of disposition.

Ratios of 1.00 or greater indicate that the court has at least as many cases to be disposed as were disposed during the year. Ratios which are less than 1.00 indicate that the court disposed more cases during the year than remained pending at the end of the year.

This ratio is calculated by dividing the number of cases pending at the end of the year by the number of cases disposed.
